Framework 2.0 .Q: What purpose is served by keeping a.jar file in a WAR file? As far as I know: It is a security risk. An application must be signed to be deployed in a web container. It is not part of a JAR file. I have a case where there are some java classes that need to be signed: [BASE]\war | +-- [BOOT-INF] | +-- [META-INF] | | | +-- jarsigner.properties | +-- [WEB-INF] | +-- WEB-INF | +-- [classes] The classes are not part of a JAR file but they need to be sign. So I need to sign the [WEB-INF/classes] directory.
